Ida Irene Wray Herold Dies in Ogden Amid Suspicious Surroundings,

THREATENED WITH DEATH.

Mother Says Former Husband Made Threat to Kill Her-Seeking Men in the Case.

The death at the Ogden general hospital at 4:50 Sunday afternoon of Ida Irene Wray Herold, a young woman 30 years of age, under suspicious cirnumstances which may lead to the holding of a coroner's inquest and possibly an autopsy, is believed in this ity to be the culmination of an affair in which the name of two men former-ly residents of this city are concerned, and the tragical ending of the young woman's life, and the disappearance from this city of one of the men named.

The young woman was taken to the hospital from Evanston a week ago Sunday. She was suffering from a comunas, cation of allments, the principal gention being a fever of 110 degrees, esterday she died, and a physician's ertifficate was issued stating that mencertificate was issued stating that men-ingits and other derangements had caused her death. When it was learned from the Ogden hospital that the young woman was seriously sick, word was sent to her mother, Mrs. Sarah Wray sent to her mother, Mrs. Sarah Wray Hendecson, residing at 458 east Fourth South street, in this city. Mrs. Henderson had then been in the Holy Cross hospital for three weeks, where she find undergone an operation for galistones, and had been removed to her home, where she was convalescing.

One of the men, known in this city by the name of Will Hopkins, disappear-el from Salt Lake City Saturday night, This man has for the last four months, This man has for the last four months, says the mother, exercised an influence over the Herold woman which made her fly more than order to her mother for protection, and the relations were such that the mother suspects Hopkins may be connected with it in some unsavery way. Hopkins went to the Henderson home Saturday afternoon and asked a younger sister of the family for a vallse which he said frete wanted him to get, Mrs. Henderson said today that Hopkins tried to seal that identical value two or three at identical value two or three id he thought by telling the story procure possession of the valles for him. The girl did not give up the case and the man disappeared, and the police in this city have not been able to beate him since. Hopkins claimed to be a hypnotist, and the mother of the Herold waman thinks he cast a spell over her daughter from which she could not extricate herself. It is learned from Ogden that it is thought that one of the men captured at Pocatellois Hopkins, and that the other may be Herold, who was formerly the husband of the woman in the case.

"My daughter frene was divorced from Herold a year ago," said Mrs. Henderson to a representative of The News this morning. "He was unkind to her and never supported her. She left him and he threatened her life, and while the divorce suit was pending I heard him say he would kill her rather than see her get a divorce. I am satisfied some unusual influence was used to get my daughter away from me, because she told me just before she left for Evanston that she would never go back to Hopkins again. But he called her up over the phone, and the first thing I knew she was gone. That was two months age. When I went to the bespital, I rene was crazy to come to me. She told her sister if I got worse she would come to see me if she had to barrow the money. She went back and forth with Hopkins and he followed her around all the time. She could not get away from him. I am afraid foni play has been used."

Lewis this morning. The jury which was impaneled several days ago when the case was suddenly stopped was summoned into court and the trial resumed. A, N, Eartholdi, whose name was alleged to be forged to two certificates of deposit amounting to about $1,100, was the first witness. A. E. Kimball of the Commercial National bank was also examined and W. H. Sherman, who was formerly with the bank, was being cross-examined when the court adjourned for noon.

In rendering his decision, Judge Lewis held that the alleged defects in the information did not amount to a material variance under the statute. The objection made to the information by the defense was that the complaint alleged that the "Commercial National bank" had been defrauded while the correct name of the bank was the "Commercial National Bank of Salt Lake," The state showed, however, that the bank had been doing business under its wrong name for 20 years and for this reason the motion to dismiss the information was overruled.

The following resolution is indicative of the alms and purposes of the organization:

"Whereas: We the members of the Home Industry club, believing as we do individually that it is for the welfare and prosperity of Ogden and Utah manufacturers, and,

"Whereas, we know that the quality of Utah manufactured articles is not surpassed by goods made outside of Utah, and believe that our patriotism and local pride demands it, therefore,

"Be it resolved that we, the Home Industry club, endorse Utah manufactured goods, and that we patronize home industry in preference to outside manufacturers."

A woman's home industry club will shortly be organized in this city, and initiative to be taken by the manufacturers. The Woman's league has always shown marked interest in the subject of home industry, and has at times invited manufacturers to address its members on the subject. The same may be said of other women's organizations.

It is argued by those directly interested in the prosperity of local factories and mills that women can do more to foster home industries than men, especially in the line of food products. With the women converted to the idea of keeping money at home, the battle for "Utah goods for western people" will be more than half won.

LANDS UNDER THE CAREY ACT

May be Taken Up, Though Homestead Right Has Been Already Exercised.

Members of the state land board were the guests, Saturday, of the Oasis Land & Irrigation company, on a trip to the property owned by the corpora tion in and around Burtner, Millard county, during which the great resources of that immediate territory, as well as the work of the company, was thoroughly inspected. In the party were W. D. Candland, W. H. Farnsworth, W. H. Thain, A. G. Glauque, Prof. R. R. Tyman, Charles A. McClain, F. L. Copening and A. H. Bohnstengel. Burtner is the center of operations of the company, the property of which has the town of Abraham on the west, Hinckley on the south, and Oak City on the east. The tract is cut almost in the center by the Sevier river, which has a bed some 30 feet below the general level, the water running to waste in the great Sevier basin. The company has constructed a great reservoir near Leannington, impounding 99,000 acre-feet of water.

A diverting dam was also constructed in the bed of the river four miles north of Burtner, which gives the necessary height to enable diversion to the company's canals. Power is to be generated from the waste waters supplying neighboring towns with light and heat. A wooden flume 600 feet long, 6 feet wide and 4 feet deep carries the waters of the company across the Sevier river. It has a carrying capacity of 127 cubic feet of water per second, sufficient to irrigate about 16,000 acres of land. A steel flume has been ordered to replace the wooden structure.

Along the entire length of the diverting dam to the ends of the lateral canals and ditches, modern concrete headgates have been installed and at frequent intervals along the beds of the canals concrete drops are being put in place.
